

$400,000 in Drugs Seized; 3 Held

By STEPHEN H. DUNPHY

Seattle police early today seized marijuana and other drugs valued at more than $400,000 on the illegal market and arrested two men and a woman.

Police said it was one of the largest — if not the largest — seizures of illegal drugs ever made here.

Police seized four suitcases containing 103 "bricks" of marijuana, 4,000 barbiturate pills, 900 "red devils" (also a barbiturate pill), 200 amphetamine pills and two blocks of hashish.

THE FEDERAL excise tax on the marijuana would total almost $330,000.

Detectives James Johnson and Ivan Madzuma said they received a tip that the drugs would be transferred from a car in an apartment parking lot on Terry Avenue near Pike Street.

Johnson and Madzuma parked a few blocks away and watched the car through binoculars about 45 minutes.

About 4 a. m., Johnson said the detectives saw a woman and two men unlock the trunk and check its contents.

JOHNSON said he and Madzuma moved toward the car and the men ran. Johnson fired a warning shot and they stopped.

One of the men had an unemployment - compensation check for $24 and $3,500 cash in his pockets.

A loaded .22-caliber pistol also was found in the car.

Snowstorm Puts N. Y. In Deep Freeze

By JOSH MILLS
Associated Press

NEW YORK — New York was crippled and cut off from its suburbs today in the wake of a storm that dumped 15 inches of snow, piled into drifts whipped by high winds.

The New York and American Stock Exchanges closed.

The Long Island Rail Road shut down, cutting off 90,000 commuters. The Penn Central and New Haven Railroads drastically cut schedules. Buses were mired in huge traffic jams caused by stalled and deserted vehicles.

THE STATE THRUWAY was closed from Albany to New York City — 148 miles — for the first time in its history. More than 1,000 cars were stranded on the Tappan Zee Bridge, a Thruway span across the Hudson River at Tarrytown. The passengers took shelter locally.

Subways were running near normal.

All public and parochial schools and colleges were closed, as were all branches of the public library.

Kennedy International, La Guardia and Newark Airports were closed. More than 6,000 persons were stranded at Kennedy.

Roads to the airport were blocked.

One jetliner with 39 passengers was snowbound on a runway for nine hours yesterday before plows could free it.

THIRTEEN of New York City's 15 inches of snow fell yesterday, a record for a single day.

Winds gusting to more than 40 miles an hour and temperatures in the 20s complicated the snow-removal problem. Motorists were urged to stay at home.

Upstate New York escaped the brunt of the storm, and airliners were diverted from Kennedy to Montreal and Niagara Falls.

Northern New Jersey was crippled. Public schools in seven Northern New Jersey counties were closed. The New Jersey Turnpike was shut from New Brunswick to Newark.

THE STORM CENTER moved into the Atlantic off Nantucket, Mass., this morning. It had originated off the

Airport Runs Short of Food

NEW YORK — (AP) —

A National Airlines spokesman appealed today for a helicopter flight to take food to Kennedy Airport, where 6,000 persons were camped after being stranded by the snowstorm.

About 500 of the stranded passengers were at the National terminal.

"They haven't eaten any food since 8:30 p. m. yesterday," a National spokesman said.

Some of the airlines were able to secure some food from a dwindling supply.

Virginia Capes Saturday night, and dumped 5 inches of snow in parts of Virginia and Maryland. As skies cleared today, freezing temperatures and winds still buffeted the area.

The near-blizzard moved from New York into New England, dumping 16 inches of snow at Scituate, R. I., near Providence, Massachusetts, Maine and Southern New Hampshire and Vermont also bore the brunt of the storm. Five deaths were attributed to the storm.

Flights Canceled

Northwest Orient Airlines and United Air Lines, which fly from Seattle to New York, canceled nonstop flights today because of the New York airport closures caused by an East Coast snowstorm.

Other flights bound for New York were halted at intermediate cities.

747 Soars Over Puget Sound

The Boeing Co.'s Model 747 superjet, bidder to dominate the free world's blue-ribbon over-ocean and transcontinental air routes in the 1970s, soared over the Puget Sound country in a first flight yesterday. Ika Island was behind the tail as the plane flew over the southern end of the Swinomish Channel near La Conner. An F-86 chase plane, accompanying the flight to observe the 747's operation, flew nearby. The 747 was aloft about 75 minutes before completing a straight approach to Paine Field and a smooth landing.—Times staff photo by Vic Condiotty. (More photographs on Page 8; details on Page 2.)

Terry Clark, 27, nearly was buried alive and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Martin, both 62, escaped unharmed when a mudslide demolished the back portion of their home at 1804 Alki Ave. S. W. at 6 a. m. today.

Fire Above?

Aye, But No

Water in Beer

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Patrons of the Red Garter saloon continued drinking their beer yesterday as firemen fought a blaze three floors above them and water dripped from the ceiling.

The Red Garter's Dixieland band blasted out, "A Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," and patrons hunched over their steins.

"I don't mind the water unless it gets into my beer," said one patron.

"I would have to look at the reasonableness of the appropriation," the governor said. "I don't want to prejudge it."

There have been reports here that an attempt will be made to provide enough money in the Senate budget to pay the way for all 49 senators.

Legislation before the House of Representatives would earmark $1,360,000 for construction of a state pavilion at the exposition, to be held in Osaka, and provide exhibits relating to state industry and trade.

The governor expressed approval of the pavilion project, saying that it would be the fifth time that Washington has participated in an Asiatic trade fair and that the participation has brought great benefits to the state's business and industry.

The governor said there probably would be a state delegation to Japan as there have been at past trade fairs. In the past, however, the delegations have been made up primarily of businessmen and have not traveled at state expense.

mud and shattered lumber in the Martin home.

Clark was pulled from the debris and taken to the Public Health Service Hospital.

Clark, who rented an apartment in the Martin home, apparently only was cut and bruised.

FIRE FIGHTERS and a next-door neighbor, Jerry Farrar, 26, of 2104 Alki Ave. S. W., whose home also was hit but was relatively undamaged, worked more than 10 minutes to free Clark, who was buried up to his chest in clay and mud.

"The rest of him was covered with boards and plaster and all I saw was an arm sticking out," Farrar said.

Clark, while being treated at the hospital, said:

"WHEN IT HIT, I thought it was a bad dream. I had no idea what it was. I started yelling as loud as I could. I couldn't move anything from my waist down, and I couldn't see anything but junk over my face, like boards.

"Finally I heard Jerry from next door. Boy, you better believe I was glad to hear him and see him after he pulled the stuff away.

"IT SEEMED like I must have been stuck in there a half hour at least. The three-bedroom frame

Fears Mount For School Levies' Fate

A forecast of rain, coupled with an earlier prediction of a low voter turnout, added to fears today for the fate of 10 crucial school-levy elections in tomorrow's county primary voting.

Interest in the election was seen as being low despite the fact that the primary also is the first step in choosing the people who will guide King County into its new Charter government.

POLITICAL observers predicted that the party that controls the new County Council probably will do so by a one-vote margin, 5 to 4, after the March 11 runoff.

Voters will go the polls between 8 a. m. and 8 p. m. tomorrow to select among 92 primary-election candidates for county executive and councilmen and to decide the school money issues.

The school systems — led by Seattle with a 25.28-mill, $29,451,200 levy issue — fear the turnout prediction. If it holds true, the voting will not meet the required turnout of 40 per cent of the total vote in the last general election, and the levies will not be validated, even if 60 per cent of those voting say "yes."

SEATTLE, Federal Way, Bellevue, South Central, Tacoma, Snoqualmie Valley, Shoreline, Lake Washington, Kent and Northshore School Districts all have levies at stake for the second and last time possible in the tax year.

In the County Council race, political leaders see two swing districts — the 1st in North King County and the 4th covering Ballard.

Queen Anne and Magnolia — where control of the Council could be decided.

(Seattle School Board, in unprecedented election-eve news conference, urges voters to ignore last-minute "misrepresentations" and vote for school levy. Page 9. A map of the county-councilman districts is on Page 24.)

Another U.S. Jet Hijacked

MIAMI — (AP) — A San Juan-to-Miami jetliner with 119 people aboard was hijacked to Cuba today after the pilot radioed: "We've got a man in the back with a gun on a stewardess."

Capt. William Latimer was some 350 miles northwest of San Juan when he reported to the Miami Air Traffic Control Center he was going to Havana, officials said.

Aboard the craft — 13th of the year to be pirated to Cuba — were 111 passengers and eight crew members. It was the sixth Eastern Airlines plane to make the unscheduled Cuba run since January 1.
